Announcing a SCAPE workshop by Skip Lawrence

Alone and Free, watercolor, 10"x15"

Figure and Paint

Monday through Friday, August 13 - 17, 2007

Watercolor, all skill levels

"There is nothing we know better than ourselves and since we are people (figures) painting what we know best is easy. The first thing I do is let go of the worn-out approach of the Renaissance. You know, that ritual where we form a circle around a nude person striking an unusual pose and work hard to imitate exactly what we see. We will have models, but only for a portion of the day when we will make drawings from which we will create personal expressions of how we feel about being humans.” - Skip Lawrence

Skip is an East Coast watercolorist whose prize-winning paintings and appealing teaching style have made him one of the most respected and popular watercolor instructors in the U.S. today. He'll show you that by making your paintings conceptual rather than perceptual they'll be unique. If you have the good fortune to attend one of his workshops you will leave with much more than new painting techniques. Indeed, your whole way of looking at the things around you will be enriched.

Nationally recognized painter, author, and teacher, Skip is renowned for his extraordinary work as a colorist. Skip regularly has his work included in books, magazines and national publications, and juries national and international exhibitions. Recently Skip received the High Winds Medal from the American Watercolor Society. He is the author of Painting Light and Shadow in Watercolor and is co-author and associate editor of Watermedia Focus and The Palette magazines. S.C.A.P.E. welcomes Skip back after his popular workshop Finding You Direction last year. He returns this summer to teach his much-anticipated figurative workshop.
