SCAPEs at Sedgwick

SCAPE is pleased to join UCSB in hosting SCAPEs at Sedgwick, a benefit art show for the Sedgwick Reserve in Santa Ynez Valley. Helping us in our endeavor will be guest artists Meredith Abbott, Whitney Abbott, John Comer, Michael Drury, Hank Pitcher, Arturo Tello and Karen Gruszka Tello. All of them paint at Sedgwick and strongly support its mission. Click here for a preview of paintings.

The benefit will take place October 19 and 20 in the historic main house of the ranch. Saturday's event will be by invitation only; on Sunday from 11:00 to 5:00 the exhibition will be open to the public ($10 per adult). SCAPE members are invited to the Sunday event free of charge – please RSVP by calling 686-1941.

This 6,000 acre Reserve, now used for environmental research and educational outreach, was once the home of noted sculptor Duke Sedgwick and his daughter, Edie Sedgwick, who appeared in films by Andy Warhol. A brochure about the Reserve states, "In 1997, the land entered the Natural Reserve System (NRS), after the Sedgwicks bequeathed most of the ranch to the University of California for interdisciplinary teaching and research. The remaining portion was acquired through the efforts of the Land Trust for Santa Barbara County and numerous other supporters.

"The site's natural wonders, human resources, and on-site facilities support interdisciplinary use by UC faculty and students as well as numerous school groups, teachers, interested neighbors, and other members of the community. From botany to biology and geology to genetics, the reserve's varied landscape and expansive scope provide research and teaching opportunities in diverse scientific fields. Its extraordinary beauty and rich cultural history also inspire artists, writers, historians, and anthropologists."

The money we raise will help the Reserve further this wonderful environmental and human mission. Sedgwick will receive 50% and the artists 50% of proceeds.

The last paint-out for SCAPE members at Sedgwick will be Saturday, September 21.
